

D&R Greenway gets down to Earth

Enjoying the evening are Wendy and Gene Gladston, Steve and Linda Mead, Phyllis Marchand, Chris and Donna DeGrezia, Kristin Appelget, Jim Shissias and Cate Litvack.

The D&R Greenway's Down to Earth Ball took place at the St. Michael's Farm Preserve on June 6.

Photographs
by Chiara Chandoha

The Boys Scouts from Troop 71 of Hopewell, N.J., helped prepare the St. Michael's site for the ball. Starting the bonfire are Thomas Finn; Lucas Carsky-Wilson; Jack Dallessio, a lifetime Scout; his father, Tom Dallessio; Mark Finn and his father, Tom Finn.

Farm Manager Bill Flemer with D&R ball Chair Leslie Potter.

Making signs to carry in the farm parade are Sue Pierce, right, and Grace Johnston, whose husband, Bob, was one of the founders of the D&R preserve. Looking on are Janet Keller-Laughlin and Linda Mead, CEO of D&R Greenway Land Trust.

A huge guitar, built by St. Michael's farm Manager Bill Flemer, greets guests at the entrance to the ball.

The guests with their handmade signs in the farm parade.

Raising funds for D&R included a Golden Egg Hunt, with trustee Kathy Bagley and volunteer Ruth Widmer.

Patricia Shanley, Cate Litvack and D&R ball chair, Leslie Potter show off their western-themed duds.